HILLSTROM PAYS PENALTY FOR CRIME

CONVICTED MURDERER OF SALT LAKE GROCER AND HIS SON EXECUTED AT PRISON.

Final Efforts to Secure Stay of Execution Prove Futile and Condemned Man Faces Firing Squad After Night Spent in Sleep.

Salt Lake City.—Joseph Hillstrom convicted of the murder of J. G. Morrison and his son J. Arling, January 10, 1914, was executed at the state prison Friday morning.

Hillstrom was sentenced to be shot on September 4, 1914, but a delay of the date of execution was secured and he was rescheduled to be executed on October 1, 1915. At the request of President Wilson, in compliance with a request of the Swedish minister, Governor Spry granted a respite until the board of pardons could consider the case.

The board of pardons considered the appeal for clemency and denied it, and on October 18, Hillstrom was again sentenced to be shot on November 19. Another request for clemency came from President Wilson two days before the execution, asking for clemency. Declaring that his obligations as chief executive of the commonwealth of Utah, and his oath as governor to enforce the laws of the state, precluded his interference with the court's order for the execution of Joseph Hillstrom, convicted murderer, Gov. William Spry, after careful consideration of President Wilson's request, declined to act on the appeal of the nation's chief for reconsideration of the Hillstrom case.

Hillstrom went to the death chair without faltering. He preserved the same calm demeanor that has been characteristic of him since he was first arrested.

During the greater part of his last night on earth Hillstrom slept soundly. When he awakened he said he felt well, with the exception of a sore throat. His voice was husky.

A message received by Governor Spry at 5:30 Friday morning caused the governor to get into touch with members of the board of pardons. The message was from Judge Hilton of Denver and said William Busky of Seattle had made affidavit that he was with Hillstrom on the night of the murder. Hilton asked for a respite of ten days to investigate. Hillstrom, when asked if he knew Busky, denied he knew of such a man. This decided the governor to order the execution without delay.

Joseph Hillstrom was convicted of the murder of John G. Morrison, a grocer, and his son, J. Arling, 17 years old, at Morrison's store in the southern portion of the city about 9 o'clock on the evening of January 10, 1914.

The shooting was witnessed by Merlin Morrison, another son, 14 years old. According to this boy's story, which was corroborated by many points by other evidence, two masked men entered the store with drawn pistols, and saying: "We've got you now!" opened fire on Morrison, who fell mortally wounded with a bullet through his chest. J. Arling Morrison ran to an ice box in the store, seized a .38-calibre revolver and fired. Before the boy could shoot again, he fell, pierced by three bullets and died almost instantly.

Hillstrom, also known as Joe Hill, was arrested three days after the shooting on information given by Dr. A. A. Bird. Hillstrom staggered into the doctor's home two hours after the shooting, with a large bullet wound through his left lung. He told the doctor he had been shot in a quarrel over a woman and requested that nothing be said regarding his visit or wound. The doctor, not having heard of the murders, treated the wound and took Hillstrom to the house of the Esellus brothers in Murray, where he had been spending several days. Accounts of the murders recalled the case to the doctor and he informed the officers.

The doctor noticed an automatic pistol, of the same calibre as shells found in the grocery after the shooting, in Hillstrom's pocket. Hillstrom threw the weapon away after leaving the doctor's home. Blood was found at several places in a general southerly direction from the store, and members of the Esellus family said a companion had visited him late the night of the murders, talked privately with him and left. This man was not apprehended and has not been heard of since. The sheriff's office said it was Otto Applequist, who had for some time been Hillstrom's companion.

WHAT CATARRH IS
It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the all-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Threaten to Withdraw Special Privileges Unless She Comes to Their Aid.
Will Shut Off Coal Supply and Other Commodities Shipped From Countries at War, Instead of Declaring General Blockade.

London.—Instead of declaring a general blockade of the Greek ports, the allies have, according to a statement issued by the British foreign office on Tuesday, withdrawn, or threatened to withdraw, the special privileges which Greek commerce has enjoyed since the outbreak of the war.

What these special privileges are is not specifically stated, but as an example Greece has been allowed to draw her supplies of coal from Welsh collieries. To do this, Greek merchants required special permits as the export of coal from the British Isles is allowed only under a special license.

There are many other commodities, the export of which is permitted only to certain countries. Invariably when orders have been issued against the export of such commodities, Greece has been among the countries excepted. Now, unless she concedes the demands made by the allies for assurances for the safety of their troops in the Balkans, Greece will be struck off the list of countries which have these privileges.

While this less vigorous attitude on the part of the allied governments has caused some dissatisfaction in quarters where strong measures are advocated, it has eased the situation and the belief now prevails that Greece, having been impressed by Lord Kitchener's visit and the threat to her commerce, will concede the demands.

MAN WAS BURIED ALIVE.
Batavia, N. Y.—Luigi Matroni was buried alive in the cellar of his home near Corfu in May, 1914, his body being trampled into a newly made grave while he still begged for mercy, according to a story told by his widow to District Attorney Con. Monday afternoon Antonio Boliva, the alleged murderer, pointed out the spot where the crime occurred and a body was found, which Mrs. Matroni identified as that of her husband. Boliva has confessed, the district attorney said.

PRODUCTS WEEK A SUCCESS.
People Awake to Necessity of Patronizing Home Industries.
Salt Lake City.—"Success unequalled and inspiring crowned the efforts of the Manufacturers' association in bringing before the people of Utah the necessity of supporting the manufacturing establishments of the state," said George S. McAllister, president of the Utah Manufacturers' association, in commenting Saturday night on the results of Utah Products Week observance, which closed Saturday.

Good Health
Doubles the Value of Your Services

A half sick man is not worth half pay. A man or woman in poor health makes a poor leader, a poor sort of a parent.

The value of Peruna in the home can scarcely be estimated. It prevents many of the common ailments. It is an excellent remedy for coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, spring fever, tired-out feeling.

Sit down and think it over. See whether you can afford to go on half sick.

Some people prefer Peruna Tablets to the fluid Peruna.

RESUME FIGHTING AT DARDANELLES
GREAT OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT
BEGUN BY ALLIES AGAINST THE TURKISH TROOPS.

The Armies of the Central Powers Are Still Pressing the Defending Forces in Western Serbia—Fighting Resumed in Flanders.

Rotterdam.—The Cologne Gazette reports that a great offensive movement has been initiated at the Dardanelles by the allies.

Violent fighting in the vicinity of Seddul Bahr, on the tip of Gallipoli peninsula, is reported by the war office at Constantinople. The statement follows:

"Artillery duels are in progress on the Dardanelles front. Violent fighting with bombs is taking place near Seddul Bahr."

A London dispatch announces that the armies of the central powers are still pressing the defending forces hard in western Serbia, but the Serbs and Montenegrins are offering strong resistance. The Montenegrins are giving battle to the invaders along the Drina and Lim rivers and at several points are said to have repulsed them, while in the Ibar valley Serbian rear guards assumed the offensive.

The Austro-Hungarians as they approach the Kossovo plain, in the region of Pristina, are being met by the Serbs, frequently in hand-to-hand encounters, but they still continue to push forward and are now declared to be approaching Pristina both from the north and the east. Although both the Berlin and Vienna communications daily announce relatively large captures of men, a dispatch from Austrian headquarters estimates that the Serb army aggregates between 130,000 and 150,000 men.

It is reported that the Serbs at Monastir are receiving reinforcements and that the British also are sending up men to the front through which the Bulgarians had hoped to drive the Serbs across the border into Greece or westward into Albania. Additional forces of men and guns are being landed daily by the entente allies at Saloniki.

To the recent presence of Field Marshal Kitchener on the Gallipoli peninsula is attributed in London the resumption of activity in the Dardanelles operations.

Hard fighting still is in progress on the Austro-Italian front with the big guns of the Italians working hard on Gorizia and adjacent sectors. According to Vienna, the Austrians have driven the Italians from all the positions they had captured around Osavla and also ejected the Italians who entered the Austrian lines in the district of San Martino.

In the west the British and French artillery has become more active in Flanders and Champagne, which on previous occasions has been the signal for offensive movements. The Russians, since they regained the ground they lost on the river Styx, have been inactive, except for minor attacks in the Dvinsk region. The Petrograd correspondents, however, predict that more important events are impending.

British and French troops have captured the city of Tibati in the German colony of Kamerun, West Africa, where the sultan and populace are said to have welcomed them.

One Hundred People Drowned.
Rome.—One hundred persons were drowned Tuesday by the washing away of a bridge over the Salso river near Licata, Sicily.

Baron de Burian, the Austrian foreign minister, is a Hungarian and has filled diplomatic posts at the Austrian embassies in London and Russia and afterwards was Austrian minister in Greece and in Holland.

Execution Cost $371.80.
Salt Lake City.—It cost Salt Lake county $371.80 to execute Joseph Hillstrom, according to the bill approved by the county commission. Of this amount $250 was paid the five men who constituted the firing squad.
